5.00–6.30 pm Wednesday 17 November 2004

Seminar Room, Barr Smith Library

The University of Adelaide

Free—all welcome

The exhibition will be launched by Dr Gregory McCarthy Senior Lecturer in Politics at the University of Adelaide, and Prof Ian North Adjunct Professor of Visual Arts at the University of South Australia and Visiting Fellow in the Art History Program at the University of Adelaide.

It is a privilege to show the Package Paintings that were produced as a series of fourteen compact studies of the current global social and political landscape. Ever the astute political commentator, Chandler saturates these works with imagery and symbols of the world both contemporary and traditional. The layering of surfaces parallels the layering of meanings which communicate the intricate interaction between the past and present.

Refreshments will be provided.
